

DEMOCRATS WEIGH MEN FOR PARTY LEADERSHIP

Selection of Chairman of State Committee Matter of Deep Concern.

FOUR NAMES ARE MENTIONED

Believed Choice in August 30 Will Be Among Flood, Stuart, Sale and Byrd—Trinkle Declines Speaking Engagements.

Selection of a chairman of the State Democratic Committee, to fill the vacancy created recently by the death of Representative Rorer A. James, of Danville, is a matter of deep concern just at this time to the party in Virginia, which is about to begin an active campaign on behalf of its nominees in the November election. While there is no fear on the part of Democrats that the Republicans will this year be serious contenders for State offices, there is a widespread belief among party leaders that a strong hand should be chosen to guide the political descendants of Jefferson until the convention elects a successor to the late Colonel James.

The State committee has been called by Secretary J. N. Brennan to meet here in special session on the night of August 10, to choose a chairman. There are few predictions as to whom it will select to hold the party reins in the forthcoming battle with the Republicans, but four names have been mentioned prominently in this connection. They are Hal D. Flood, Representative in Congress from the Tenth Congressional District; Henry C. Stuart, former Governor of Virginia; General W. W. Sale, campaign manager for the late Senator Thomas S. Martin; and the late Senator Trinkle, who won the Democratic nomination for Governor in the August primary, and Harry Flood Byrd, of Winchester, member of the State Senate.

Flood Quiet as to Boom.
Congressman Flood has been a party leader for years. During the leadership in Virginia of the late Senator Thomas S. Martin, he was regarded as one of the "Big Four" in State politics, and perhaps the most trusted lieutenant of the senior Senator. Though Mr. Flood has declined to discuss his boom for the chairmanship, it is generally understood that he would accept should the honor fall to him. He is looked upon as an able, aggressive leader.

Former Governor Stuart had not been active in politics since he relinquished the reins of State government nearly four years ago, until the candidacy of Senator Trinkle for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He went into this campaign as an ardent supporter of Senator Trinkle and delivered several speeches on behalf of the nominee. Governor Stuart, so far as leaders here are advised, has made no statement as to his attitude toward the chairmanship. It is generally conceded that he would make an able party leader.

General Sale, former State Senator and Adjutant-General of Virginia, has received wide commendation for the able manner in which he directed the Senator Trinkle campaign for the nomination, and his friends have become active on his behalf for the chairmanship of the committee. On Friday night he was given an ovation at a banquet given by the party leaders in the State capital. He has made no comment on his boom, other than to say he is a candidate for no office.

H. F. Byrd Able Leader.
Senator Byrd of Winchester, is a son of the former District Attorney Richard Evelyn Byrd, who was himself regarded as one of the "Big Four" in Virginia politics, and a nephew of Congressman Flood. He is considered one of the ablest and most aggressive of the younger party leaders in the State and enjoys wide popularity. The Senator was an ardent supporter of Senator Trinkle for the nomination, who, his father was a supporter of Harry S. George Tucker.

With the selection of a chairman, a whirlwind campaign will be begun by the Democrats. It has been announced by Secretary Brennan that Senator Trinkle will decline all invitations to deliver addresses before the various societies and organizations that have deluged him with invitations, and will save himself for the forthcoming fight. Colonel Henry W. Anderson, the Republican nominee for Governor, will begin his speaking tour about September 1.

FINANCE BODY TO CLEAR WAY FOR BOND PROPOSAL

Expects to Clear Up Regular Docket Tomorrow for Consideration of Sewers Issue

When the Finance Committee of City Council meets in regular session tomorrow night at 8 o'clock it will take up its regular docket, so that everything may be cleared up and out of the way for the consideration of the proposed bond issue for sewers at a special meeting of the committee on Thursday night.

The committee will consider at that meeting but one proposed bond issue, that for sewers generally recommended by the Mayor some time ago, and advocated by Director Sale, as being badly needed. This issue will probably be for $300,000, to be sold in installments. The money is to be used in constructing sewers in "dry" territory, where they are needed primarily as health measures, and in portions of the city where sanitary sewers may relieve the "pressure" on general sewers and tend to minimize possible damages to property from overflows.

Members of the committee are anxious to do something to relieve this situation, but, as pointed out by Chairman Barton H. Grundy, the city is confronted by a scarcity of funds, and no one wants even to suggest an increase in taxes.

STREET OPENING PLANS INTEREST WEST-ENDERS

Proposal of Sheppard Heirs, Approved by Saville, in Hands of Planning Committee.

Residents of the far West End, and prospective builders in the territory occupied by the Sheppard estate, embracing the tract lying between Monument Avenue, Rosemont Hall, Broad and West Streets, are interested in the prospective action of the Finance Committee in reference to the plan recommended by the Sheppard heirs for the dedication of land for opening streets and alleys.

This territory lies immediately west of Lee District, and is in the line of progress in both building operations and in population. Streets to be extended in this area include all north of West Street. Director Sale, who recommends approval of the plans as suggested by the owners of the property. All the city is expected to do to open the streets and alleys, and to grade and install sewers, water and gas mains within the next two years. The total cost to the city will be less than $50,000, it is estimated by the engineer's department, and it is pointed out by Director Sale that the work will have to be done eventually, and probably at a greater expense in years to come.

NEEDED SHOWER HELPS BURNT VIRGINIA CROPS

Rain Yesterday General Within Radius of Fifty Miles of Richmond.

Up to the time when Old Sol sought shelter behind lowering clouds from the Southwest yesterday afternoon, water merchants held to his own. In the city, as people were preparing for church, the mercury stood at 72 and it began to climb, until it reached 80 degrees in the shade at 2:30 o'clock, while the official report from Chimborazo indicated the height for the day of 83—three degrees cooler than upon the previous day.

And then came the rain. The rain was general, with a radius of at least fifty miles of Richmond, and that meant that watermelons, peaches and tobacco in the adjacent counties have been given another hard hour. The general belief is that rain brings cooling zephyrs in its wake. This may have been true yesterday, but it is probable most of the residents felt so good over the rain they didn't notice the difference. Old Prob says the weather today will be fair and slightly cooler in the Southern sections.

An invitation is extended in the call to all persons, male or female, white and colored, who are qualified voters and reside in Virginia, and believe in the fundamental principles and policies of the National Republican Party, to assemble for the convention.

Nearly all of the space in the Industrial Building of the State Fair Grounds has been allotted to local firms for display booths for the showing of merchandise during the fair, pointing to an announcement made Saturday by officials of the fair association.

PLAN FOR A CITY FARM MUCH-DISCUSSED TOPIC

Chairman James E. Peters Gives Numerous Reasons for Establishment.

Much interest centers around City Hall as to the possible outcome of the efforts of the Council Committee on Utilities to secure a suitable site for the proposed city farm. As outlined by Chairman James E. Peters, of the subcommittee on farm, the reasons for the establishment of such a farm are numerous.

"The farm," he said, "is to be utilized as a place of detention for city prisoners now held in jail; as a place for the establishment of a city home, where the city's guests may be given opportunity for recuperative living, and as a hospital for the folks now being taken care of at Pine Camp. The old folks now gathered at the City Home may do something for themselves by working in the garden; the short-time prisoners in jail may be given employment, and the results of such employment may suffice to make the farm self-sustaining within a short while."

The committee has inspected several sites offered the city, and will inspect a farm on James River near Dutch Gap on August 27. The committee has made no report yet, and it was said yesterday that no report would be made to the general committee until all available sites have been inspected.

KIWANIS TEAM IS OUT TO TRIM ROTARY CLUB

May Be Forced to Bribe Umpire, Declares Frank Louthan—Opposing Camp Equally Confident and Will Balk at No Tricks of Game.

While the other members of the Kiwanis Club are battling with the waves at the Virginia Boat Club beach on Mayo Island this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, the baseball club will be off in the jungle near by practicing for the big game at Boulevard Field tomorrow afternoon for the benefit of the Associated Charities.

Frank Tyndall, master of ceremonies for the aquatic sports, has planned a program suited to any member of the club. He has arranged for tub races, canoe races and canoe tilling, relay and straight-away races, football, and all other water sports. He warns all members to bring bathing suits, or he threatens, "they must stand the consequences," which interpreted means that all hands must go overboard at least once.

The meeting this afternoon will be more or less informal. Little business will be brought up for discussion—except that pertaining to the contest with the Rotarians tomorrow. "We have made up our minds to win that game, even though we may be forced to bribe the umpire," said Secretary Frank Louthan, "and we do not want to do that. We anticipate no trouble, however, and because the Rotarians had Lieutenant Samuels, of the traffic squad, as umpire at their exhibition game last Tuesday, is no reason he must be umpire at the game tomorrow."

President D. K. Kellogg, of the Kiwanis Club, observed very closely the Kiwanis practice all week, and is of opinion that every weak spot in the Rotarians' team has been eliminated. He thinks that while "The Rotary Club has an excellent team, they will be slaughtered as a lamb before the onslaught of the Kiwanians."

Ham Watson, general manager of the team, has ordered the new suits for the Kiwanians. He was greatly elated over the showing the team made at the last heavy practice preceding the game on Saturday afternoon.

He states that he will not allow his team to go through a heavy drill this afternoon, but will only allow them to toss ball around for a short time, after which every member of the team will be given a complete rest until the game opens at Boulevard Field.

W. M. Buchroeder, Kiwanis chairman on arrangements, reports that the sale of tickets by the Kiwanis Club has been very heavy and is looking forward to a large attendance at the game, and believes that at least $2,000 will be raised and final related charities. He stated that while the game itself starts at 4:30, the ball park will be filled with Kiwanis and Rotary enthusiasts and supporters as early as 3:30 P. M. The program committees have arranged to be on the grounds at 4 o'clock and prepared to give a great ovation to the teams as they come on the field for play.

The Rotarians will hold their last confab about the game tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock, at the Richmond Hotel. At that meeting all the inside dope will be spread and the final rehearsal of the signals will be had. Ben Wilson, director-in-chief of the baseball squad, states that everything possible has been arranged for a victorious contest. "The umpire and the scorers are our friends," averred Mr. Wilson. "Not only will we outplay the aggregation of Kiwanians, but we will crush the contest. As our pep squad, headed by Cheer Leader Henry Schwarzschild and George Street, will introduce a number of yells calculated to rattle the opposition, we will have a walk-over, you see."

The game tomorrow afternoon will be called at 4:30 o'clock. Many tussling houses in the city will close for the day at 4 o'clock so the employees may get to the game. The proceeds will be given to the Associated Charities, and it is hoped by both the Rotary and the Kiwanis Clubs that at least $5,000 may be taken in from the sale of tickets.

RETAIL MARKET MEN ARE PLEASED WITH BUSINESS

Consider Last Week Very Good for Dull Season—Receipts of Apples Larger.

At the end of last week the wholesale produce dealers and commission merchants of Cary and Thirteenth Streets weekly boasted of a "fairly good week's business," and one or two of them went so far as to say it was a very good week for what is generally accepted as the dull season.

Receipts of Virginia apples were larger than the previous week, and the quality was better. The hand-picked fruit varied in price all the way from 16 to 12 cents per barrel, but it had to be hand-picked and otherwise in first-class shape to bring these figures. But very few peaches came in, that is very few of the better goods. All kinds of peaches were in active demand at higher prices than have heretofore prevailed this season. Other fruits were steady at previous quotations.

Receipts of chickens were large enough to meet the demand. The small birds went readily at 28 to 29 cents per pound, and the large-sized at 30 to 32. Hens were rather slow at 29 to 31. Eggs were sold in large receipt and higher, going from 33 to 35, and such as were dingy and unattractive brought 50 to 51.

Veals were in fairly large receipt to meet a rather slack demand. It took the very fanciest to bring over 9 cents and even these did not get beyond 10 cents. The common and small receipt and higher, going from 9 to 12. Lambs were a little slow at 8 to 9 cents.

The outlook for this week is for moderate receipts of most products and no improvement in demand or prices.

Individual Expression

BEETHOVEN composed the "Moonlight Sonata" and a blind girl saw the glory of a moonlit evening. Genius has its many avenues of expression.

The designers of the distinctive styles in the Women's and Misses' Suits and Dresses, Hats and Shoes, Blouses, Skirts, etc., shown in this early Fall assembly, were geniuses in the art of creating modes to accentuate the individual charm which each individuality possesses.

And that is why our displays—although by no means complete as yet—are proving so alluringly popular with the women of this vicinity—the individual taste and desire for the "smart" and the "new" can be met successfully.

The fact that many of these new Fall things—especially certain Hats, Suits and Frocks—are exclusive in style, makes early choosing desirable.
